

The Vote for Governor.

The official statements from all of the Counties having been received in Columbia, the exact vote for Governor is obtained. The total vote is 197,861, of which E. J. MORGAN, Jr., received 71,333, and RUFUS TOMASSON 126,478, which gave the first-named a majority of 34,905.

The Dreaded Horse Disease.

The name of the dreadful horse disease which is now prevailing so extensively throughout the Northern cities, and which is extending so fearfully and rapidly, is called by numerous names, but the most common one, we believe, is "Epizootic." During the past week it has been found to exist in the cities of Washington, Chicago, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, etc. The disease makes rapid progress, and is already in Charleston, and will no doubt be in the upper part of the State very soon. In many of the large places, the streets are, which are drawn by horses, are entirely stopped, and all horse travel largely curtailed.

Governor Scott has issued a proclamation, prohibiting the importation of horses into South Carolina during the prevalence of the epidemic.

As a great many horses come into the State from Kentucky and Tennessee, through North Carolina, entering Greenville County, Governor Scott last Friday, telegraphed to Sheriff Southern to prevent, if possible, the importation of horses through our County.

We append the Sheriff's notice, issued by him:

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Whereas, information has reached this office that an epidemic among horses exists to an alarming extent in the Northern cities, and unless precautionary measures are provided against the introduction of this contagious disease, great loss may be caused therefrom: Now, therefore, I, Robert K. Scott, Governor of the State of South Carolina, do hereby ordain and proclaim that the importation of horses and mules is prohibited, by railroad or otherwise, during the existence of this epidemic, and that all vessels having such cargoes, arriving at the ports of Charleston, Georgetown and Hilton Head, be directed to remain at quarantine anchorage, until they are visited and inspected by the Health Officer of said ports respectively.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this twenty-sixth day of October, A. D. 1873, and in the ninety-seventh year of the independence of the United States of America. ROBERT K. SCOTT, Gov.

F. L. CARDEZO, Sec. of State.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 1, 1873.

To J. L. SOUTHERN, Sheriff of Greenville Co.: You are hereby directed to prevent importation of horses and mules into the State through your County, during the prevalence of the horse disease, under my proclamation. ROBERT K. SCOTT, Gov.

In obedience to the above proclamation and order of His Excellency Gov. R. K. Scott, to me directed, I hereby forbid all parties to import horses or mules into this State through Greenville County, under the penalty of the law, which will be strictly enforced against all persons violating the same.

J. L. SOUTHERN, S. G. C. Sheriff's Office, Greenville, S. C., Nov. 1, 1873.

We give the following plan of treatment, written to Robert Bonner, of the New York Ledger, which may be of use should the epidemic reach this portion of the State, which is not at all unlikely:

NIAGARA FALLS, October 24, 1873. Robert Bonner, Esq.—Dear Friend: I notice by the morning telegrams in the papers that the epizootic has reached your city and your stable. The disease first broke out in Toronto, Ontario, and here next. I have had all of my horses down with it except my wife's little mare, and so far she has not had it. It is not a dangerous disease, and is strictly confined to the head and throat, immediately under the throat-latch. It is good, careful nursing more than anything else that is needed. My remedy (from my experience with my own horse) is as follows:

Keep the horses comfortably blanketed and quit working them. I used a powder twice a day, composed of potash and tartarized antimony, (three ounces), made into twenty-four powders. (Keep the nostrils sponged out with a solution of vinegar and camphor and a little ammonia. Give soft feed, such as mashes and cut feed. Do not give them any hay except such as is cut, nor any dry oats. In the first stages, if severe, give, for the first two days, two small doses of aneolite, one in the morning and one in the evening. They are good to prevent any fever or disease from reaching the lungs.

Out of every horse in this place having it, only one has died, and that from starvation and hard work, being turned out on the common to starve and freeze at night.

The disease lasts about two weeks, and generally the worst of it is over in ten days.

Don't fail to use a counter irritant on the throat, but not severe enough to blister. Alcohol and mustard, or ammonia and sweet oil, or even strong liniment, are very good.

A little walk in your yard will do the horses much good if they feel like moving; but don't let them get warmed up, nor drive them at all. Of course, you know all about it, but I felt that I must write to you about my experience. Any horse that is driven ought to be free from checking; and a little chance to graze is good for them. The lower the head is in feeding the better. Take the chill off the water before they drink it.

Pardon my writing you so long a letter. Pray don't be uneasy about your horses; they will come out all right. Truly your friend, JAMES T. FULTON.

THE ELECTION ON TUESDAY.—The day passed off with the quiet and order characteristic of our peace-loving people, there being no disturbance or even any boisterousness. We give the vote polled in the County, as far as the precincts have been heard from; viz.:

LOCAL MATTERS. LARGEST BEET.—The largest beet of the season that we have seen, was presented to us by our friend, Mr. P. A. McDavid, and raised by him in his garden, in the City. Its weight is five and three-fourth pounds, with a circumference of twenty and a half inches. If this indicates the general production of the season, his table has been well supplied with vegetables.

Old PARRA, suitable for cutting patterns, for sale at this office, at ten cents per dozen. Mr. W. M. WHEAT requests us to state that he will be absent from his Photograph Gallery until Tuesday next.

In the proceedings of the United States Court in Charleston, a few days since, we observe that Herbert Garman and H. W. Southern, convicted of illicit distillery, and sentenced to imprisonment at Greenville, were ordered to be removed to the Charleston Jail for confinement during the remainder of their term, there being reason to apprehend that they would escape from the Jail here.

EASLEY'S BRIDE.—In advertising the removal of Easley's Bridge back to the old place, the contract was to be let on Saturday, 16th November, instead of the 19th. See advertisement as changed.

OFFICE PUBLIC WEIGHTS. GREENVILLE, Nov. 4, 1873. No. Bales Cotton weighed and marked for the week ending Nov. 2, three hundred and thirteen (313). M. S. SCRUGGS.

OFFICE PUBLIC WEIGHTS. GREENVILLE, Nov. 4, 1873. No. of Bales of Cotton weighed and marked the past week, two hundred and forty seven (247). A. W. McDAVID.

SALES DAY.—Although there was a nothing especially stir, there was a very full attendance of the country people in town on Monday. After the sales were over, of which there were only two, they quietly dispersed. The following is the sale: Land of Estate of JOHN WATSON, deceased—Tract No. 1, 108 acres, purchased by JOHN H. WATSON, for $1,250; Tract No. 2, 30 acres, purchased by WM. H. WATSON, for $400.

DELICIOUS SWEET POTATOS.—Mr. ROBERT McCLARY, of the Line Creek neighborhood, has presented us with a most acceptable present of a basket of Sweet Potatoes—African yams and the old-style yams—which were the largest and finest we have seen this season.

TURNIPS.—We return thanks to our friend, Mr. MANNING SMITH, for specimens of his Turnip crop, which were of a good size.

SALE OF CITY PROPERTY OF ESTATE OF MRS. CARSON, DECEASED.—On Monday, Mr. J. C. SMITH, Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent, sold the following parcels of ground: 25 feet on Main and 85 feet deep on Washington Streets, to Mr. A. S. DUNCAN, for $1,950.

25 feet on Main and 85 feet deep, north of the above, to WILSON COOK, for $1,500. 25 feet on Washington Street, 60 feet deep, to Mr. A. S. DUNCAN, for $370.

This is known as the "Southern Hotel" property, and is regarded as having been well sold.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—There will be a meeting of the above Temperance society, on next Tuesday evening, at 7 1/2 o'clock, in the Odd Fellows hall. All of the members are earnestly invited to be present.

For the Greenville Enterprise. Mr. Editor—Well, I did go to the Anderson Fair, and I was well pleased—so much so, that I must beg, implore and beseech our people here to have a Fair. A happy time did I have, too, in going and returning—saw a few little incidents. In the first place, I repaired to the depot in due time, and procured a return ticket, but the conductor would charge me 50 cents for four chickens I desired to exhibit; not much encouragement to Fairs. On board I found genial spirits in the shape of big S., with a big heart, little S., with a great big soul and good travelling companion; Captain and Honorable H., and his jovial son, Captain S., with whom I used to "fight, bleed and die for our country," a great talker and good company; Ham. B., with his New York Herald of latest date, and last, though not least, that whole-souled and genial spirit, Will G., the greatest travelling companion it has been my good fortune to meet up with on a bad railroad.

On board also was a goodly number of the fair daughters of Greenville going to the Anderson Fair, with their Mary Queen of Scots head-gear. In fact, it looked like all the pretty girls were going to leave Greenville, which evinced a very commendable public spirit. Well, in due time we reached Anderson, which was about 11 o'clock, which showed a remarkable rate of speed, at least 10 miles an hour—we were going by team, and no boiler "busted." At Anderson we found a vast crowd, mostly wending their way to the Fair Grounds—Arriving on the grounds, the Managers, Bayle and Tom Crayton and friend Hoyt, sent with great dispatch for my fowls and entered them without any expense. By the way, good managers will make a good Fair. I saw some supremely good cattle of both sexes, but there seemed to be not a sufficient quantity of Hogs and Sheep—However, the Fair is in its infancy, and will improve in that line. The array in the poultry line almost beat the State Fair. The array of fine horses and mules was great, and some good time was made around the splendid track. I am happy to say, a Greenville pair of mules took the premium, entered by Mr. Vaughn, but belonged to Mr. N. F. Burgess. The display of the domestic and fine arts was good, which showed that the fair daughters of Anderson are wide awake. A more industrious set of men than the Agents of the various sewing machines I never saw. A button hole would be worked in the space of time that it used to take a fellow's wife to thread a needle. On the ground also was an electric battery—"shocking machine," for which a man could get "struck" for 10 cents. I told the operator that I could get struck with lightning in the summer season for less money.

The Society have located their grounds in a convenient place; have put a good fence around it; have good buildings, stables, &c., for which they deserve the praise of all public-spirited citizens. To sum up, the Anderson Fair was a success, the people are a wholesome people—they meet visitors with open arms, entertain them hospitably, and don't rob them when they get to leave. I hope more of our citizens will go next year.

I remained until Saturday morning, when the rain came pouring down. Wending my way to the depot, I found I would have to remain until the Wallaha train came down. When it did come down, it was on the off track. I enquired of some one if they were not going to shift up to the platform, I was politely told that if I wanted to get on, I must cross over to the "train." Some ladies were along, so they had to wade through the mud and get "aboard." Well, a board was procured, but not as good a board as we got at Belton. Oh! misery! The Greenville & Columbia Railroad Company evidently aim to make a fortune and retire! The only seat I could obtain was on a box by a nigger wench, whose husband eyed me suspiciously. A Grant voter, whose business it seemed to be, was to torture, continued to cram pine wood into an old stove, until it became unendurable. He made a good Universalist of me, for I knew I was getting my share in this world. The Railroad Company evidently get their wood cheap. That was the only instance in which they did not show economy. I eventually had to vacate, and not being able to stand up, I mounted the break. In the course of time we arrived near a station, when the brakeman politely bowed me off. There was no use, for the train was about to stop from mere exhaustion. My genial friend, Will G., stood and took it. He had been under "fire" before. By good luck, we got home safe, resolved to go to the Anderson Fair again, if I have to go around by the Air-Line. GREENVILLE.

On the 28th ult., during the absence of Mr. R. P. Holloway and family, his dwelling house, in the Mountain Creek Church vicinity, in Edgefield County, together with all his household furniture, clothing, &c., and some $250 in cash, was destroyed by fire. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. Loss not less than $1,500.

For the Greenville Enterprise. Mr. Editor—I think it much to the credit of our County that the elections passed off so quietly. I am still hankering on the repudiation question, and hope the Legislature will do something to relieve the State of the enormous debt, or take Judge Orr's plan of some tax to be collected. It is simply a mild form of confiscation; and by the time we are through with it, some of us will think it a very rough form.

Parker's letter to the New York Bondholders, was the first move of the Ring in their great raid on the people of South Carolina. In that letter he said the Auditor was authorized by law to levy a tax to pay interest on bonds, and said it was his desire to have the tax levied and the interest paid.

Neagle follows in his letter to Governor Scott (sometimes ago published) urging him to compel the Auditor to act. What was the reason for so much care? It was a big thing, and they must take it all. A pool has been formed to hold five millions of the fraudulent conversion bonds! This cost about thirty cents, or $1,500,000 for the pool. If the Auditor will levy a tax to pay the January interest, and the accrued interest, the price of these bonds will go to at least sixty. The Ring can then sell out, clearing $1,500,000 again.

Previous to January 1st, they having announced that as the day when interest is to be paid, they will sell bonds short to the amount of $5,000,000 at, say, fifty, to be delivered January 15th. When January 1st comes, no interest will be paid. Bonds will fall to thirty again or below. The Ring will be able to cover their shorts at that price, and will clear $1,000,000 with that operation again. The tax levy of six mills to pay interest will be collected—$1,000,000—and the various kinds of State paper now in the hands of the Ring, bought at rates of discount, varying from twenty to fifty cents on the dollar, will be paid by the Treasurer. So the Ring will clear, in that 'ay, say $600,000. Total profits to the Ring, if the Auditor will comply with the demands, $3,100,000. Parker said he would rather have this tax levied than to be State Treasurer.

Edward F. Gary, late Auditor, did not comply with their demands; he, out of his regular course of duty, prevented the circulation of the Blue Ridge Script. He was the only man that would bring a suit against them, and they have attempted to buy him by offering him $10,000 cash, and $25,000 in Scrip to stop the suit; but, like an honest man, he refused. Another party offered him, if he would levy the tax, or resign his position as Dr. Neagle could levy the tax, $20,000 cash—at the same time, Scott promising to continue him in office if he would make the levy. He refused; and what is the result? He is brown out, and J. L. Neagle appointed instead. All things now being ready, they will levy the tax before the sitting of the next Legislature. Is it right? Shall we, Tax-Payers, come forward and pay it? No. We will not, if it can be prevented. Must we take it as our duty to pay every tax that may be imposed by unscrupulous men who chance to be in power? No; not by any means. Let us resist to that extremity, that all honest men could, to have it stopped, and let there be one voice from the mountain to the sea-shore—down with this tax. It will cut off all kinds of trade and business; and the few hard-earned dollars that the laborer has laid up for a dull day, will be gobbed up by this corrupt Ring, and carried away. It seems to me, we have reached that point where human endurance ceases to be a virtue.

Let every man come forward and speak his sentiments, and I feel that that sentiment will be: We have paid taxes enough, and cannot, willingly, pay any more for 1873. O. K.
